Dong Ngo

Born and raised in Halifax, myself and my partner moved to Ottawa in 2021 for my Masters in Public Policy and Administration at Carleton. We fell in love with the history, diversity and charm of Ottawa and so in 2024, we decided to settle down and buy a house. We visited different neighborhoods around Ottawa but none stood out to us like Hunt Club did. With plenty of greenspace around to explore, close proximity to restaurants, shops and transit, Hunt Club is where we wanted to settle down and start a family in.

Over the past year I've gotten to learn more about our neighbourhood and am motivated by the passion and dedication so many people have in making Hunt Club a welcoming and thriving community to be a part of. My desire to join the board of directors comes from my drive to help foster a community where people feel connected, supported and welcomed. Through setting up a neighbourhood facebook group where people can connect, and holding social events where neighbors can meet each other in person, I am eager to help bring our community together.

Fostering community has long been a focus of mine dating back to university where I was Vice-President Events for Dalhousie's Political Science Student Society and later Vice-President Community for Carleton's School of Public Policy Student Society. In both roles, I was responsible for organizing events to bring our student body together and our annual gala. I've continued my event planning background in my professional career at Canadian Heritage where I lead our branch Social Committee.

I hope to draw upon these experiences and my own drive in helping our board shape the path forward for community.

Having served on the Board for over a decade as Director and Treasurer, I took a break for a few years and am now ready to rejoin. Our area faces a large number of developments which need to be monitored to give residents the best outcome possible.

Peter Brimacombe

I have been a member of the Hunt Club Community Association for 40 years. For 20 years I was the Secretary and for one year I was the President. Before that I was a member of the Ottawa East Community Association.

The community, the City, the country is in a crisis. Housing still is a big problem. Government has been somewhat effective. I don't have any magic answers. I do believe that problems should be addressed in the context of community. The Hunt Club Community Association is an important part of community.

I want to keep the Hunt Club Community Association as an active and viable organization.
