

Protect Important Greenspace on Revelstoke Drive along the Rideau River from Rezoning

Martha Robinson
3832 Revelstoke Drive

This greenspace is a natural area that is the home to a wide variety of insects, birds, animals, and plants

- Neighbours and visitors of this field report seeing owls, coyotes, salamanders, fireflies, beaver, muskrat, snakes, and foxes.
- Spring flowers such as spring beauties, trout lilies, and trilliums are plentiful along the edges of the field and in the forested area.
- Neighbours have documented 96 different bird species in their backyard two houses away from this field.

Undeveloped Urban Greenspace is invaluable as important housing infill development proceeds.

- The Rideau River has not been adequately protected from development as is evident across the River from this greenspace.
- All of the land along the river is within the 1-100 year flood plain.
- Important cool area in summer with climate change impacts.
